HOUSE VOTES TO END PRICE CONTROLS

BOASTING THE LATEST equipment for spotting and attacking submarines, the largest non-rigid airship in the world reaches Lakehurst, N. J., for duty with the U. S. Navy. Built in Akron the blimp is 324 feet long and 35 feet high, can do 80 miles an hour or hover almost motionless, and is nearly twice the size of similar craft used in World War II.

U.S. Attorney In Kansas Fired In Tax Cleanup

Attorney General Describes Action As 'Quiet' Cleaning

WASHINGTON, June 20 — (AP)—Atty. Gen. McGranery says the firing of the U. S. district attorney for Kansas is just one step in a methodical housecleaning the Justice Department is conducting "in our own quiet little way."

McGranery, in office only three weeks, announced Thursday that Federal Prosecutor Lester Luther, 63, had been dismissed by President Truman at his request because of evidence the Kansan accepted a $2,000 cut of a $5,000 fee in a pending tax dispute case.

Seated at his desk, fingering a file of photostatic copies of canceled checks and documents, McGranery told newsmen if he finds evidence of any other misconduct he will let the public know about it immediately.

"It will be put right on top of the table," said the new attorney general, who has been given the role of government cleanup chief. "In our own quiet little way, that's how we are going to clean this thing up," he said.

• • •

McGRANERY said a special grand jury will be called promptly at Topeka, Kan., to study evidence Luther shared in fees paid to another federal employe, Nicholas Lopes, for representing the Dolite Company of Toledo in a tax case.

Luther told reporters at his Topeka home that he and Lopes shared in fees from the firm, but denied he had taken any money illegitimately. He said his dismissal came as a complete surprise.

Lopes, who resigned his job as a trial attorney in the Justice Department's Criminal Division May 9, would make no comment.

But Luther said the money they received was for giving legal advice in connection with a large construction job—and not for acting in a tax case.

"Such a job is permissible under law and the attorney general's manual of regulations," Luther said. "It is regular practice for district attorneys to do jobs like this."

In Toledo, John J. Kendrick, attorney for the Dolite Company, said Lopes had represented the firm on special legal work, but never in a tax case. He said he did not know Luther.

Prior to Thursday's action, McGranery had accepted the resignations of three—exactly one half—of the top aides left over from the regime of Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath.

McGrath was ousted by Truman after dismissing corruption hunter Newbold Morris, whose brief tenure generated much heat and publicity but never got off the ground.

Shortage Of Ammunition Already Noted

Military Production Threat Seen In Long Steel Strike

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—Industry and the military say the nation's arms production—everything from jet engines to atom bombs and nuclear submarines—will come to a virtual halt within a few weeks if the steel strike continues.

A survey of manufacturers and defense experts Friday showed that in general enough steel is on hand to eke out production until some time in August, but that in some instances the impact of the steel production stoppage already is being felt.

The situation goes beyond the non-delivery of finished weapons themselves. If the hard steels needed for tools can't be had, the weapons can't be made. The effect of that can be far-reaching.

Secretary of Defense Lovett, calling the potential effect of the strike very serious, already has moved to get into arms production channels the comparatively small amounts of steel production and finished steel still available.

• • •

ONE ACTION was to get steel out of warehouses and into weapons-making plants. The CIO Steelworkers Union headquarters at Pittsburgh telegraphed orders Thursday night to pass such defense materials through picket lines.

The Defense Department has requested contractors to shift steel orders to non-struck plants. There aren't many of these.

But the department expects both measures to produce only minute amounts of steel compared with the vast tonnages needed.

Lt. Gen. E. W. Rawlings, commanding general of the Air Materiel Command, said Thursday night the strike has not greatly affected military aircraft production to date.

He added in a statement, however, that "if the strike lasts long enough there are certain to be gaps in the pipeline" of supplies and "obviously, aircraft production will be affected."

Shortages in ammunition already are appearing. One of the major items in this category is the 4.2-inch mortar shell. Even in the present stalemated phase of the Korean War thousands of these shells may be used in a single day. Each shell contains about 25 pounds of steel.

• • •

THE NAVY says that, although there is steel available in shipyards and work can progress in certain areas, lack of special types of steel for certain parts of a new or converted ship can stop construction.

The hull of the new atomic submarine is being built at the General Dynamics Corp.'s Groton, plant. If enough steel isn't accumulated by August, construction will be delayed, says the Navy.

The Atomic Energy Commission is a heavy user of almost all types of steel. Huge quantities of structural steel are on order for the new Savannah River and Paducah AEC plants, in addition to several other smaller projects. Large tonnages of stainless steel are used in the processing of the raw materials which go into the manufacture of atomic bombs and nuclear power plants, like the two being built for submarines.

• • •

HERE ARE what some of the aircraft and steel companies contributed to an Associated Press survey of their situations:

Consolidated Vultee, maker of the B36 strategic bomber — Six weeks of production steel on hand, but an even more critical situation relates to tool steel. This was in short supply throughout the industry even before the strike started. Unless tool steel needs are met very quickly the entire future production of new model jet aircraft and other military planes will be disrupted.

Boeing, maker of the B47 jet medium bomber—Its plants at both Seattle and Wichita "are beginning to feel the pinch" with available steel reserves being tapped.

Ryan, manufacturer of military planes—Can run about 30 days, after that "deep trouble."

Allegheny Ludum Corp., making high temperature alloys used in jet engines and stainless steel—Production zero and no backlog when strike started.

Crucible Steel Corp., which rolls titanium, vitally important in jet-engine manufacture — "Production is zero."

Westinghouse Electric Corp., whose defense products include jet engines—Production will not suffer for another three to five weeks.

Allison Division, General Motors, jet engine maker—Has material to continue production through July; "Our fear is that some small supplier of component parts can't meet his commitments."

Virtually All Civilian Goods May Be Freed

Action Not Final But Is First Step; Rationing Possible

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—The House Friday voted to end price controls on virtually all consumer goods. The vote was subject to reconsideration.

By a vote of 146 to 88, the House decided there should be no price controls on items which are not rationed or allocated. Controls also would be lifted on items which have been selling at below ceiling prices for at least three months.

At present no goods are rationed, and only a few metals are being allocated.

The effect of the amendment, if it remains in the bill, would be to remove just about all price controls or force the Office of Price Stabilization to order rationing of things it wants kept under price ceilings.

The amendment was offered by Rep. Talle (R-Iowa) and supported heavily by Republicans. Democrats almost solidly opposed it, but many were absent.

Controls could be reimposed whenever materials are allocated or rationed.

"In essence, this is saying there will be no price control law," declared Rep. Hays (D-Ohio), who opposed the amendment.

• • •

A SERIES of test votes Thursday established that a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats could call their own shots and back them up with votes.

President Truman's lieutenants admitted they do not now have the power to prevent (1) an amendment telling Truman he should use the Taft-Hartley Law in the steel strike, or (2) a companion move to strip the Wage Stabilization Board of its power to act in industrial disputes.

Truman told a news conference Thursday Congress has no power to make him use the Taft-Hartley Law, with its 80-day no-strike injunction provision.

The President said the possible use of the law has been under consideration all along. But he indicated he is still reluctant to use it. And he questioned whether the striking CIO United Steelworkers would obey a back-to-work order from a court.

House Democrats said they hoped to complete action on the controls bill today. Some Republicans thought the measure might have to put over until next week.

The bill, containing all the basic economic control powers, is due to expire at the end of this month. The Senate already has passed an extension bill, but differences between this and the version finally adopted by the House must be adjusted in conference.

Taxes Main Topic Of Campaign Now

Taft Blasts Ike In His 'Answer' By Charging He Is Ill-Informed

By The Associated Press

Taxes, about which every voter knows, were prime grist for the political mill again Friday, with President Truman and the four top contenders for his job tossing in their views on the subject.

Here's what they had to say:

(1) President Truman—No president, Democrat or Republican, can cut taxes 15 per cent—in fact, they ought to go up instead of down because of the federal deficit.

(2) Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio—"I promise a reduction in expenses to balance the budget the first year and a tax reduction of 15 per cent the second year."

(3) Gen. Dwight Eisenhower—He advocates a slash of 30 to 40 billion dollars in the federal budget—not in taxes, as he has been quoted as saying.

(4) Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia—He believes the people are willing to make the present tax sacrifice to keep the nation strong. He doesn't see how taxes can be reduced without wrecking rearmament.

(5) Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee—"Let us win the peace first and then talk about cutting taxes." Any such talk now, he said, amounts to daydreaming, ignorance about fiscal matters or an empty promise to get votes.

• • •

TAFT AND Eisenhower are one-two in the race for Republican presidential nomination. Kefauver and Russell occupy the same positions among Democrats.

The third-running Democrat, Mutual Security Administrator Averell Harriman, said in talks Thursday he could not see how either Kefauver or Russell, as southerners, could win the big blocs of Democratic votes in the north and west.

Eisenhower, he said, is a fine soldier and patriot but is a "captive" of reactionary Republican ideas. And, he added, "I disagree with Taft on practically every issue, foreign and domestic."

The Associated Press tabulation of pre-convention delegate strength for these five nominee-candidates now shows:

Republican — Taft 466, Eisenhower 393. Nomination at the July 7 convention requires 604 delegate votes.

Democrat — Kefauver 246, Russell 114½, Harriman 91½. It takes

Mayor Rhodes Sued For Libel

More Fuel Added To Ohio Politics

COLUMBUS, June 20 — (AP)—A $200,000 libel suit was filed here Thursday against Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus by Doyle Press, Inc., of West Jefferson.

Doyle Press publishes three weekly newspapers in Madison, Union and Franklin Counties. The company also does job printing.

Clarence J. Doyle, president of the firm, resigned earlier this month as executive secretary to State Auditor Joseph Ferguson.

The suit charges Rhodes said Doyle Press attempted to coerce advertisers in a London newspaper to switch to "a Doyle-Ferguson publication which it proposed to circulate in Madison County."

Rhodes, Republican nominee for state auditor, will oppose Ferguson in the November election.

Said Rhodes: "The real reason for the suit is to endeavor to prevent me from making further exposures concerning State Auditor Ferguson and his chief political advisor, Doyle." He added:

"I stand prepared to back up every statement which has been made, and both Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Doyle may expect to hear further from me concerning their public and business records and operation of the past decade."

No Wheat Crop Restrictions Next Year, Government Says

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—Because of uncertain world conditions, American farmers can grow all the wheat they want to in 1953 despite an expected surplus this year.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said Thursday the international situation makes it advisable to produce as much wheat as possible to help feed friendly nations and to maintain supplies for defense purposes.

Brannan said this year's indicated near-record crop of 1,326,000,000 bushels—second largest on record and a third larger than last year—normally would force him to order controls to hold down production.

But he said because of current conditions he will not proclaim marketing quotas or planting allotments which he can invoke, under crop control laws, when there is a surplus.

Marine Corps Increase Bill Up To Truman

WASHINGTON, June 20 — (AP)—A bill raising the size of the Marine Corps, and giving the Leathernecks more independence and influence in the military establishment, landed on President Truman's desk Friday.

There was nothing to indicate whether Truman, who came off second best in one famed row with the Marines, would sign the measure into law or risk another controversy by rejecting it.

The President and the Marine Corps tangled last over a 1950 letter in which Truman said the Marines had a propaganda machine equal to Stalin's. Some ex-Marines happened to be holding a convention at the time, and raised the roof. Truman apologized to them in person.

Considerable enthusiasm — nobody used the word propaganda this time—on the part of ex-Marines in Congress put steam behind the new bill which whipped through both houses Thursday.

Armco Wages Are Now Set For 2 Years

MIDDLETOWN, June 20—(AP)—Employes at the Middletown plants of Armco Steel Corp., who haven't had a strike in 51 years, agreed Thursday on a new contract calling for wage increases and other benefits averaging 25 cents an hour.

The 5,000 employes are represented by the Armco Employes Independent Federation, an independent union.

Armco's Middletown plants have not been affected by the nationwide strike of CIO Steelworkers. Work also was continued in Armco plants in Hamilton and Piqua, and Butler, Pa., where there are independent unions, but there have been shutdowns in plants at Ashland, Ky., and Baltimore.

Henry Mathias, president of the local union and the bargaining agent, said the new contract would run for two years from last April 1. It may be reopened in June of next year, however, by either party for wage adjustments.

Mathis said the average direct pay boost would be 16 cents an hour with minimum increase of 12½ cents. There will be a 50 per cent increase in pay differential for workers on the night and early morning shifts.

Negotiations are being continued on other phases of the new contract.

Hot Weather Ends In East, Not In South

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather showed little change Friday continuing warm and humid over most of the southern half of the country.

The spell of hot weather in the eastern states ended Thursday with arrival of a cool front that covered most of the northern tier of states from the Rockies eastward. Thunderstorms with wind gusts up to 70 miles an hour hit New York City and other eastern cities.

It was near freezing Friday in Cadillac, Mich., with a low of 36. At the same time it was 84 in Phoenix, 81 in Dallas, 79 in Kansas City, 76 in New Orleans, and Atlanta, 75 in Miami, 69 in Washington, 61 in New York, 57 in Chicago and 43 in Montpelier, Vt.

A tornado hit Lisco, a small community in Western Nebraska Thursday night demolishing the North Central Gas Co.'s regulator house. No injuries were reported.

Gas For Ohio Sought When Protest Made

COLUMBUS, June 20 — (AP)—The state utilities commission asked the federal government Thursday to deny Columbia Gas Corp. permission to take on new customers near the east coast.

It told the Federal Power Commission Ohio's limited natural gas supply might be cut if Columbia took on more customers.

The utilities commission pointed out two inconsistencies in Columbia's request:

(1) Ohio's partial freeze on natural gas for space heating was put into effect after Columbia said it could not meet the gas demand.

(2) Columbia spokesmen repeatedly have testified they will not take on new customers until they meet the needs of present customers.

The utilities commission also urged the FPC allow two subsidiaries of Columbia to extend their pipelines to boost present service.

Steel Strike Halts Laxity On Building

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—The government Friday scrapped its plan to relax building restrictions July 1. It said the steel strike is "slowly but surely" strangling military and civilian production.

Henry H. Fowler, head of the National Production Administration told a news conference the easing of curbs on home construction and on building of amusement and recreation sites must be postponed indefinitely.

Philip Murray's CIO Steelworkers went on strike June 2 minutes after the U. S. Supreme Court had knocked out President Truman's seizure of the nation's steel mills.

Fowler said defense industries are not getting enough steel even though all efforts have been directed at steering the trickle of available steel into military and defense-supporting production.

All steel deliveries, he said, are "slowly but surely grinding to a halt."

Triple Birthday!

LIMA, June 20—(AP)—Come next June 19, the three Wehrle kids—Laura Joan, Nancy Jane and George Joseph—will have something in common—a birthday. On June 19, 1950, Mrs. Wehrle gave birth to Laura Joan. The next June 19 she gave birth to Nancy Jane. Thursday, Mrs. Wehrle did it again. A boy—George Joseph.

Bank Robbery 40 Years Ago Is Confessed

KEMMERER, Wyo., June 20—(AP)—Charles S. Whitney, for 41 years a respectable Montana rancher, is on probation today after voluntarily confessing his part in a $600 Wyoming bank robbery in 1911.

The 63-year-old rancher, known to his ranching friends near Glasgow, Mont., as Frank S. Taylor, pleaded guilty Thursday to the armed robbery in September, 1911, of the Cokeville State Bank, 44 miles northwest of here.

He walked into the office of Wyoming Gov. Frank A. Barett Thursday and made his confession.

"I have no incentive any more to continue this life of sham," he said.

After the court appearance, Whitney grinned and said, "that's a big load off my mind."

District Judge Robert Christmas had told him, "I can see no purpose or use in sending you to prison."

Children's Foods To Go Up In Price

WASHINGTON, June 20 — (AP)—OPS has just authorized price ceiling increases for baby and "junior" foods. The increases range from 3½ to 8½ cents a dozen cans or jars, at the factory.

The agency estimated the retail price will rise by about a cent a can for canned baby meats, but not more than half a cent a can for other baby foods. The increase reflects increased transportation and wage costs in the industry.

Quake Shakes Zanesville But No One Hurt

ZANESVILLE, June 20 — (AP)—A mild earthquake rattled windows in Southeastern Ohio early Friday, but it disturbed the slumbers of relatively few of the sleep-starved populace.

There were no reported injuries and no major damage. It was felt both here and at Athens, 52 miles to the south. There were some scattered reports from the area just east of Columbus.

The tremor probably would have caused more excitement had it not come in the cool morning hours at the tail-end of a heat wave.

The quake lasted from five to 10 seconds at 4:40 a. m., EST.

Father Joseph Joliette, assistant director of the Seismological Observatory at John Carroll University, Cleveland, said the tremor was local. He said it was produced by a shrinking of the earth as it cooled.

While some light sleepers bounded from their beds in fright, most persons in the area slept blissfully on.

$80,000 Blaze

CLEVELAND, June 20 — (AP)—A blaze which firemen said started in a skillet and spread through a ventilating system damaged Gruber's Restaurant in suburban Shaker Heights Thursday. Max Gruber, owner, said damage may approach $80,000.

U.S. May Buy Europe Planes

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—The United States announced today it is considering buying airplanes from European member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The plan would involve use of U. S. Mutual security funds to buy planes directly from European makers, chiefly for use by European nations—instead of sending aid in the form of U. S. planes.

That action, it was he said in a statement issued simultaneously here and in Paris, is based on a provision of the Mutual Security act. He said the act left to the executive branch of government the decision on how best to utilize U.S. funds for procurement of military equipment in Europe "to the advantage of the Mutual Security program."

Conventions Are Trouble, But Good Business

Chicago Plans For Big Time

CHICAGO, June 20—(AP)—The Republicans and Democrats are returning to their favorite city next month to nominate a President and there's a definite political theme in many lines of business.

There's also feverish non-political activity in putting final touches to preparations for the two major party conventions.

Playing host to the big political shows is a huge business—although not a new role—for Chicago.

When the Republicans convene July 7 it will be Chicago's 13th GOP national convention. The Democrats open their meeting on July 21, their eighth in Chicago.

The last time both met in Chicago in the same year was 1944.

Business groups and city officials have been busy for months mapping every detail so that the delegates and convention visitors will be kept happy during their week-long stay.

Hotels, railroads, airlines, restaurants, night clubs, theaters and State Street stores have made big plans for a business boom during the conventions.

• • •

THE CITY has arranged to have streets spick and span, with an extraspecial preening on the routes from the loop to the convention hall, the International Amphitheatre in the stockyards district.

Traffic policemen won't be too quick to give delegates and visitors a ticket for a minor violation. The 1,100 policemen who will handle traffic won't be allowed to use such familiarities as "Bud" and "Chum."

Being a presidential year, even the new toys are of a political nature. Among the new Christmas display shown yesterday were giant elephants and donkeys that double as pieces of furniture, ottomans and hassocks.

Arrangements at the Amphitheatre, which has a seating capacity of 12,000 are nearing completion. Busiest workers have been representatives of news services, radio and television stations. The Illinois Bell Telephone Company has arranged a telephone message center for delegates which will include walkie-talkie service for emergencies.

One of the major projects at the Amphitheatre was the installation of an air cooling system. Delegates thus can be assured of keeping cool during the hours of fiery oratory.

New Home Agent Added To Local Extension Staff

Mrs. Leora Sayre was hired Thursday as home demonstration agent for the Pickaway County extension service.

Mrs. Sayre replaces Mrs. Maurice Martin (Genevieve Alley), who resigned early this Spring to marry.

The new agent is a native of Ripley, W. Va., and left for a visit there Friday before starting her new duties here.

For the last two years, Mrs. Sayre has been a teacher in a private girls' school in Kenosha, Wis.

Cricket Horde Now Creeping Over Nevada

RENO, June 20—(AP)—A horde of Mormon crickets—25 miles wide and 14 miles deep—was creeping today toward the water supply of Austin, a little mining and ranching town 150 miles east of Reno.

Residents of the community of 325, sheriff's deputies and three cricket control men from the State Department of Agriculture temporarily stopped the invasion about half a mile from the town's water reservoir yesterday.

But they ran out of poisoned mash.

Later reports placed the crickets only a quarter-mile from the reservoir.

Townspeople fear the horde will contaminate the water.

The mormon cricket—a large, black, voracious insect—got its name by common useage after swarms invaded the grain fields of early Mormon settlers in Utah in 1850.

The fields were saved when seagulls appeared and gobbled up the crickets.

Check Beats Fine

CHARDON, June 20—(AP)—Chardon Mayor Donald Muchmore fined Charles Stone of Cleveland Heights $19.70 for reckless driving and took a check in payment. A half hour later Stone phoned him and said he was stopping payment on the check, the mayor complained.

2 Drunk Drivers Fined, Sentenced In Mayor's Court

Two drunken drivers have been fined a total of $300 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail each in the court of Mayor Ed Amey.

Walter Duncan, 33, of Highland Park, Mich., was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail for drunken driving on South Court street. Duncan was arrested by Officer Earl Martin.

And Mark Fyffe, 48, of Newark Route 5, was also fined $150 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail for drunken driving on South Court street. He was arrested by Officer Leroy Hawks.

In addition, Clyde Huffer, 65, of Stoutsville, was held for Pickaway County grand jury on $100 bond when he entered a plea of innocent to an accusation of drunken driving. Huffer was arrested on East Main street by Officer Rod List.

Taxes Are Main Topic

616 to win the nomination at the July 21 convention.

* * *

TAFT'S REMARKS about taxes were made on a radio broadcast he called an "Answer to Abilene," because it was designed as a rebuttal to Eisenhower's homecoming speech.

The Ohio senator said Eisenhower is ill-informed on several issues, did not understand them or shifted his views. Taft said Eisenhower apparently came out for a $40 billion tax cut when he meant he favored a $40 billion reduction in the federal budget.

Taft blasted Eisenhower on domestic and foreign issues, scorned a "me-too" type of presidential campaign and lambasted "New Deal" Republicanism.

Taft claimed he has gained in both popular and convention delegate strength since Eisenhower came home from Europe. Concerning delegates, he said: "I can't find a single one that Gen. Eisenhower's gained."

The Ohio senator urged an immediate end to price controls, repudiation of Truman administration foreign policies, gradual elimination of the draft, continuation of farm price supports with qualifications, and a personal platform stressing individual liberty.

If elected President, he promised, he would balance the budget during his first year in office.

* * *

THE PROGRAM was televised by the National Broadcasting Company, the American Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

All principals were carefully rehearsed for more than an hour before telecast time. The "Answer to Abilene" title referred to Eisenhower's homecoming speech and news conference televised from the Kansas town several weeks ago.

It was during the question-and-answer part of the program that he blasted away at Eisenhower. Taft answered queries put by four newspaper reporters, several members of the studio audience, and a women's group known as "Belles for Bob."

The senator said universal military "is certainly unnecessary today, and our policy should aim toward the gradual elimination of the draft."

He said he is in favor of abolishing price controls today and declared that "prices today are generally below the legal price."

Autos At G-E Plant Rifled

Two autos were relieved of accessories early Friday while they were parked at Circleville's General Electric plant, East Ohio street.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff said the autos were owned by Tom Hartsaugh of Laurelville and John Musselman of Mt. Sterling, who were working in the plant.

Missing from the Hartsaugh car were four chrome tire rims and two fender skirts, while the Musselman car lost a jack, a box of tools, a set of chisels, two hammers and end wrenches.

Radcliff said the thefts happened after 1 a. m. Friday.

DEATHS

And Funerals

CHARLES McCREA

Charles McCrea, 64, of New Holland, died at 6:30 p. m. Thursday in Lancaster-Fairfield Memorial hospital of injuries which he suffered in an automobile accident Wednesday in Lancaster.

Mr. McCrea was a farmer and a life-long resident of the New Holland community. He served in the U.S. Navy during World War I.

He was born near New Holland August 1, 1887, son of George and Myrtle Vierebome McCrea. He was unmarried.

Surviving are his mother and a brother, Kenneth McCrea, both of New Holland.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland, with the Rev. John Tigner officiating. Burial will be in New Holland cemetery.

Friends may call in the funeral home.

ANDY RUSSELL

Andy Lloyd Russell, infant son of Francis and Barbara Laessle Russell of Williamsport Route 2, died at 8:30 p. m. Wednesda; in the home of the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Laessle.

Surviving, in addition to the parents and maternal grandparents, are two sisters, Pamela Jean and Shirley Hope, at home; and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Russell, of Williamsport Route 2.

Burial was held Thursday in Springbank cemetery, Yellowbud.

Three Violators Fined $45 Here

Two speeders and a reckless operator were fined a total of $45 and costs Thursday in the court of Mayor Ed Amey.

Lowell Thomas, 19, of 717 South Court street, was fined $15 and costs for reckless operation at Court and Water streets. He was arrested by Officers Rod List and Earl Martin.

Ralph Whisonant of Greensboro, Ky., was fined $15 and costs for speeding at 65 upon Route 23. The driver was arrested by State Highway Patrolman J. W. O'Neil.

And William Wallace of Charleston, W. Va., was also fined $15 and costs for speeding at 65 on Route 104. Wallace was arrested by State Highway Patrolman S. J. Hobar.

Ball Managers To Meet Sunday

Managers of softball teams in Pickaway County are to meet at 3 p. m. Sunday in the veterans' service office, Pickaway Courthouse, to plan a county tournament.

James P. Shea, head of the local softball committee, said all teams in the county are invited to participate in the tournament.

Actual tournament play will begin in mid-July, a single-elimination affair with the four top teams going into district play.

Ohioans For Cut

WASHINGTON, June 20 — (AP)— Ohio's Republican Sens. Robert A. Taft and John W. Bricker both paired Thursday for a 10 per cent cut in the $666 million appropriation bill for river, harbor and flood control projects. The Senate voted 50 to 27 against the cut.

McDowell Says Schools Face Critical Financial Problems

George D. McDowell, Pickaway County superintendent of schools, declared Friday a day of reckoning must come to "face the increasingly serious problems of school finance."

He said problems before the nation in this respect are especially difficult, and "several of our county schools that have their financial backs to the wall."

The school head made the comment in connection with issues discussed earlier this week at a semi-annual meeting of Ohio Association of School Administrators in Cedar Point.

School superintendents who attended the two-day meeting were warned the major problems of school finance for the years immediately ahead fall under two headings.

* * *

THEY WERE told school district levies will have to meet a new minimum to qualify for additional aid under the school foundation program and school districts may have their funds sharply cut in counties which refuse to conform to the state's demand for uniform taxation.

McDowell said he anticipated no particular problem for Pickaway County through the law which requires a tax minimum of eight mills for all school districts by Jan. 1, 1953, in order to receive state aid monies.

He explained this could be a matter of concern only in Saltcreek Township, which now has a tax of seven mills. Voters in November will be asked to add the additional mill.

Of the county's school districts, only three—Harrison, Pickaway and Circleville townships—operate without the additional aid provision.

The other phase of the school finance problem, the superintendents were told, arises through the state's demand for uniform taxation.

In this connection, a release issued to those at the Cedar Point meeting said:

* * *

"IF THE auditor of your county refuses to raise the tax duplicate in your county to the degree required by the state board of tax appeals, the school district or districts under your supervision will lose 50 percent of the amount due your district or districts under provision of the school foundation program.

"This applies to both additional and non-additional aid school districts."

Penn Outlines City Charter For Rotarians

More information concerning Circleville's proposed new charter form of government was outlined to members of Circleville Rotary Club Thursday when Richard Penn, local attorney and member of the charter commission, was guest speaker.

Under the present form of government, Penn said, it is difficult to establish responsibility. It is too easy to "pass the buck."

Under the charter form, if voted upon favorably and put into effect, Penn said council will be fully responsible for the operation of the city.

He added the plan of electing members of the council from at large is commendable, for under this plan ward politics would be eliminated. Under the proposed plan, the city can be assured of obtaining capable and well-qualified members of council.

In fact it would be possible to have all members from one ward, Penn cited.

* * *

UNDER THE charter form of government and a city manager, a savings of a substantial sum could be possible, for the functions of safety and service director and perhaps other present costs of government would be eliminated. No change is contemplated in the present operation and management of the city water and sewage departments.

Penn also suggested citizens of Circleville consider establishment of a municipal court, which again would effect a considerable savings in the cost of city government.

In a question and answer period after the talk, it was brought out that, if the charter form of city government is adopted, all purchases for the city would be made by one person in order to eliminate duplication.

Visiting members during the Thursday meeting were Henry Howe of Columbus and R. C. Hagey of Lancaster, Pa.

19 Complete First Aid Training

An American Red Cross standard first aid course, sponsored by Mt. Pleasant Grange of Pickaway County, has been completed with 19 receiving certificates.

The 18-hour course was held for nine weeks in Williamsport school from April 15 through June 10.

Mrs. Robert Smithers, an accredited Red Cross first aid instructor, said the main interest of classes this Spring has been in the atomic supplement to first aid and in the back pressure-arm lift method of artificial respiration.

Completing the recent first aid course were: Mrs. Gladys Arledge of Williamsport; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Atwood of Williamsport; Charles Brown of Circleville Route 2; Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of Circleville Route 2; Mrs. Beatrice Bumgarner of Circleville Route 2; Mr. and Mrs. Ted F. Corcoran of Williamsport Route 2; John Dearth of Circleville Route 2; Mrs. Juanita Lawson of Williamsport; Mrs. Bessie Newton of Circleville Route 2; Mrs. Cecil Recob of Williamsport Route 2; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rihl of Williamsport Route 2; Miss Rosemary Rihl of Williamsport Route 2; Robert Smithers of 471 East Main street; Mrs. John Wardell of Clarksburg; and Mrs. Helen Whitesed of Williamsport.

First aid classes will begin next Fall. Those desiring the course in standard first aid and in the atomic supplement should contact the Red Cross office in Circleville.

Father Sent To Workhouse

Frank Hart of Era was sentenced to one year in Columbus workhouse Thursday in Pickaway County juvenile court for non-support.

Hart was sentenced to the workhouse on an affidavit filed by his wife, Delima, who accused him of failing to support five children ranging in age from seven months to 11 years.

The hearing was held before the court of Juvenile Judge D. Young, who later suspended six months of the sentence in favor of probation.

"THOU SHALT NOT COVET ANYTHING THAT IS THY NEIGHBORS," READS THE MOSAIC LAW

Scripture—Exodus 20:17; Luke 12:13-34.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE LAST of the Ten Commandments reads: "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his manservant, not his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbor's."

The word covet is defined in the dictionary as "to desire, to long for, to crave, especially something belonging to another person." Almost everyone is occasionally assailed by this feeling of envy of another. The man or woman who has an old automobile and cannot afford a bright new one, feels a spasm of jealousy when he sees his neighbor driving his brand new car.

The woman who cannot buy a new dress feels a twinge of envy when she sees her well-dressed neighbor, or she may have that covetous feeling when she is invited to go through a friend's new and up-to-date house when she has an old one which she cannot even modernize.

Little children have those same feelings when they see their playmates get new toys which they would like so much to have but cannot because Daddy and Mummy cannot afford them. It seems to them an injustice is being done them.

The majority of us dismiss such unworthy thoughts from our minds and try to be glad of our neighbor's good fortune. The minority try to get the things they desire but cannot get honestly by pilfering them, which only brings trouble upon them.

Any newspaper daily records cases of uncontrolled covetousness that led some man or woman into the law court to be punished as a criminal.

Jesus comments on this commandment when, as He was preaching a solemn warning to His followers, he was interrupted by a man who asked Him to talk to his brother about dividing an inheritance with him.

Jesus refused to act as arbitrator in the case, saying, "Man, who made Me a judge or a divider over you?"

Then, turning to His following, He said: "Take heed, and beware of covetousness; for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth."

Jesus then told the parable of the rich man who had such an abundant harvest that he had not space to store it all. He therefore decided to tear down his old barns and build great new ones. Then, said he to himself, "I will say to my soul, Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry."

Now there was nothing wrong about this man's decision to build new and larger barns to house his wealth. It was a wise, businesslike move. The fault lay in his selfish attitude toward his riches. He was going to take his ease, to "eat, drink and be merry," with no thought for anyone but himself. Were there no poor to be helped; no worthy causes to which he could contribute?

That night, however, God told him that his soul would be required of him, and what good would his goods do him then?

"So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God," Christ concluded the parable.

The problem of feeding, clothing and housing ourselves causes great anxiety to millions of people all over the earth. Jesus told His disciples not to fret about the matter. Such worry may dominate a person's life so that he is less capable of planning and meeting his situation.

"The life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment," He told them. He referred to the ravens, "for they neither sow nor reap; which neither have storehouses nor barn: and God feedeth them; how much more are ye better than the fowls?"

"Consider the lilies how they grow; they toil not, they spin not; and yet I say unto you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these."

Man must take some thought to his future and present needs, but he should not let it dominate his life or make himself ill worrying about what he cannot help. He should trust that, with the help of God, he will be able to earn what is needful.

"But rather seek ye the kingdom of God; and all these things shall be added unto you."

"Sell that ye have, and give alms; provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth."

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."

Not selling everything you have and giving it away, but cultivating a generous and sympathetic heart and thinking of others instead of yourself only, is the Christian way to live.

HOW TO FIGHT FAT

DR. CLIFFORD Gastineau of the Mayo Clinic said at an American Medical Association symposium that 15 million Americans are 10 per cent or more overweight. That means they are classed as obese.

They are fat, Dr. Gastineau continued, because they eat too much and walk too little and have too many labor-saving devices. Other speakers warned that overweight leads to other troubles, particularly diabetes. Life insurance statistics were exhibited to show that diabetes kills 3½ times as many fat persons as thin ones. Doctors believe overweight is a contributing factor in many other diseases, especially of the heart.

None of this will be news to those who are careful about their weight, but it is information that needs to be more widely circulated. This is especially true of the panelists' conclusion that there is no easy way to reduce. It can be done only by proper diet. Get-thin-quick pills and other patent preparations can be dangerous.

Perhaps in an effort to avoid an appearance of self-interest, the symposium members failed to warn that it is also dangerous to go on severe diets without medical supervision. Sudden and drastic shedding of weight can have consequences which in some cases have been fatal.

The best way to avoid overweight is, of course, not to get fat in the first place. Men tend to take on weight beginning at age 20 and women at 30. That's the time to be watchful. It's much easier to get rid of five pounds of excess than 50.

Another unconfirmed report from Moscow says Stalin has been ordered to give up all his positions. Unfortunately, he has a lot of boys on the bench ready to take over.

Harry Truman says he never dreamed of becoming President. Neither did a lot of Republicans back in 1948.

The Trumans are entertaining frequently since the White House has been refinished. Many are looking forward to their going-away party.

A proposal has been made that bright red stickers be placed on cars of unsafe drivers. Brand them as traffic Communists, in other words.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

As long as General Eisenhower was safeguarded by an exalted position, the discussion of the Berlin question was academic. Today, since he is a candidate, this question looms large. It is increasingly more difficult to explain why we are now involved in all the complications concerning Germany, including the need for the costly Berlin airlift, the division of Germany into East and West, the division of Berlin into zones without an adequate entrance and exit. Some students attribute our troubles in Korea to the strengthening of the Russian position at the Elbe River. Korea has cost us about 120,000 casualties includong 20,000 dead.

Errors of judgment can be made with the best of intentions and may even have some justification. Thus far, these are General Eisenhower's explanations:

1. At a meeting of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, on March 3, 1949, he said:

". . .Your question seems to imply that the decision not to march into Berlin was a political decision. On the contrary, there was only one person in the world responsible for that decision. That was I. There was no one who interfered with me in the slightest way.

"Until the day I die, there is one thing that I will testify to in favor of or on the side of Mr. Roosevelt's skill in handling a country at war. When he put his men into the field, he did not interfere with them as long as he left them there."

Then Eisenhower described the situation at that moment:

"The Russians had attacked on January 12th, and that attack, you will recall, had carried them clear across the Oder. They had a bridgehead west of the Oder, and strong forces within thirty miles on Berlin. They told us that coincident with our leaping forward from the Rhine they were ready to attack again. So I sent around to Moscow the details of my plan. I saw no possible chance of going 300 miles, crossing the Elbe at the end of 250 miles, a big river, getting in and surrounding Berlin, with the Russians having to attack from thirty miles off.

"Now, another great problem arose: when two friendly forces are moving toward each other directly to crush like a nutcracker an enemy in between, you get a very serious problem. . .Today your fighters bombers range out 200 miles ahead of you. They are whipping and knocking down everything they see in your path.

"As those two friendly forces come together. . .the danger of lunging into a battle between friends is very, very great, and that is multiplied when you realize that you cannot speak the other's language at all. All you can do is switch your radio on to talk to each other and tell them where to stop and what to do, 'and, for goodness' sake, Joe, stop shooting. This is Ike.' (Laughter)"

There is more of the same which I omit without distortion.

At Detroit, on June 14, 1952, General Eisenhower returned to the subject. He first repeated much of the above. He added:

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

GAMADGE had turned from the secretary; he was glancing about the room, and beyond into the luxury of the blue bedroom with its glimpses of looking glass vistas and flowered carpet. He said: "The police might think that the locking-in showed jealousy."

"And Gray hasn't a jealous drop of blood!" Miss Austen wailed it. "Now don't you see that we mustn't court publicity for either of them?"

"What's against the idea," said Gamadge, "is the abrupt manner of her going. She didn't even pack a little bag."

"She didn't even take her handbag," Miss Austen told him, "or her gloves, but if she suddenly decided—"

"It doesn't sound like that sort of decision, exactly." Gamadge's eyes met Gray Austen's again. "What did happen up here, exactly? After you came in."

Gray jerked his head forward. "She was reading something out of those bookshelves."

Gamadge walked over to them. "Was she?" He glanced along the shelves. "Nice collection."

"My tastes don't run that way, but she often took out a book. I went and looked; it was one of those ghastly rehashes of old murder cases. I don't see the sense of getting all that kind of thing second-hand; having seen a good deal of first-hand killing myself, you know. So I said something. Then she made me feel like a fool—she explained that she only had the thing out because she wanted to stuff up the crack between the dumb-waiter doors back there in our dressing-room; they'd been rattling. And I was going to apologize, and then she said she was going to leave me."

Hildreth drew a long sigh.

"And she seemed so wrought up," continued Gray in so low a voice that it was barely audible, "that I did the fatal thing. Locked that door." He had moved forward from it, and now turned his head to look at it with a kind of resentment. "If I hadn't, she'd probably be here now."

Jerome was blowing smoke-rings. He said: "Well, Mr. Gamadge, there you have it. If you can give Gray any private advice, well and good; you needn't commit yourself in front of witnesses." He smiled. "I don't agree with my sister. It was a tantrum, and she might be anywhere."

"In the river," said Gray coldly.

"Nonsense. Nonsense. Probably working it off—er—dishwashing. Independent working girl; proud little thing, I should say. If she'd gone off as you think, Hil, we'd have heard from her; if she's merely in a temper, we may never hear."

Gray said: "I have to know."

"Well, make Mr. Gamadge tell you, then." Jerome came up to Gamadge and shook hands. "Good luck."

"Thank you."

Jerome went briskly out of the room, and Hildreth came up to Gamadge in her turn. "I do hope we shall meet again in happier circumstances, Mr. Gamadge. And I hope you'll have something to drink before you go. Gray—you'll see to that, won't you?"

Gray nodded, and she withdrew smiling. Gamadge turned back to the bookshelves. Gray Austen joined him there.

"Very nice lot of stuff," said Gamadge. "That one, and that one—they're out of print. Booksellers have a standing order for some of these things; scouts always out for them. I'd give something for those two I pointed out, if you ever care to sell."

"Don't think I have a right to."

"That's so. life interest, your sister said. Well, at least you can read them. But you said you didn't care for criminology, I think. You know, you're wrong there, Mr. Austen."

"Am I?"

"I understand your personal reaction, but there's more to these murder cases and trials than mere slaughter and mayhem. Lots of human nature, and wonderful contemporary detail. Which collection was your wife reading when you came in here yesterday?"

"She wasn't reading it; I told you."

"Or said she wasn't," said Gamadge. "After all, you were scolding her; she might—"

"I believed her. Here it is," said Austen, pulling a thick paper-bound book out of a shelf; thickish, that is, in comparison with Rena's description. It was limp and dog-eared.

Gamadge accepted it from him. "Murder Cases Retold. Very interesting, I remember this," said Gamadge, opening it at random. "Even in those days, in the middle nineteenth century, they sometimes had the sense to recognize that a doomed wretch was mad. Didn't execute him. These things are of interest to lawyers, you know."

"I don't think many people read them for the law in them."

"But this might be evidence for us, you know," said Gamadge, smiling at him and flipping pages.

"Evidence?" Gray Austen raised his eyebrows.

"We could determine by it whether she was only intending to stuff up a crack."

Austen stood looking at him.

"It's rather thick for the purpose," suggested Gamadge, still smiling. "We might go back to wherever the dumb-waiter is, and see if it would fit in."

Austen, without moving his eyes from Gamadge's, said after a moment: "She might not have looked first."

"She'd have some idea."

"I don't care to check up on Rena." Austen took the book from Gamadge, and turned. "Here, Aby."

Aby squirmed towards him. He tossed the paper book to him, and Aby caught it in his mouth. He took it off into a corner, shook it to pieces at once, and began to chew the pages.

"Well!" Gamadge laughed. "What a gesture of chivalry! Dollars going down his maw."

"That isn't the kind of thing I want to know about Rena," said Gray.

"No. Well, let's see: what can I suggest that you don't know already, far better than I do? No police. No hospitals. No morgue. Where did you say she came from originally, Mr. Austen?"

"She was brought up in New Brunswick—near it. I have the name of the town somewhere."

"Inquire there."

"No friends left there, she said."

"But they know her."

"I might send my sister down," said Austen uncertainly. "A woman could do it better—without so much talk."

"Do nothing and you'll get nowhere. Find out who her friends were at that place where she worked before you married her."

"Cressons'."

"No, really? My publishers."

"The only girl she knew there at all well—the school friend that got her the job—is married and in Europe."

"You see how futile I am." Gamadge moved towards the door.

Miss Austen leaned over the banister of the third-floor landing. "Is Mr. Gamadge going? Just a minute, Mr. Gamadge, I'll go with you let me get my hat on and find Aby's leash."

Gamadge went slowly down the stairs. Glancing at his watch, he saw that it was a minute or so after six o'clock.

Try, Stop Me

Gardner Rea, one of the country's leading illustrators and wits, began his career auspiciously at Ohio State university, where, in 1914, as editor of the college newspaper, he was awarded the annual prizes by the Serious Poetry committee and the Humorous Poetry committee simultaneously. "The payoff," chortles Rea, "is that I submitted exactly the same poem to both committees. I maintain that's a trick not everybody could do."

Here are a few of Rea's own favorites among his cartoon creations:

1. The boss telling an underling, "Not 'raise,' Philip. 'Rise' is the grammatically correct form, though I personally prefer 'salary increase.' And the answer is no."

2. A well-upholstered matron consoling her balding spouse, "You poor darling! Surely there must be an easier way of making a living than clipping all those nasty coupons."

3. A sarcastic boss throwing over his shoulder to a sultry switchboard operator, "If there are any important messages while I'm out, Miss Suggs, just jot them down on an odd scrap of paper and lose them as usual."

I'm looking forward to a whole album of Gardner Rea's work.

FOLKS OF FAME—GUESS THE NAME

1—This motion picture actor, radio and television star was born in Cincinnati, O., on Dec. 28, 1914. He studied law, but decided instead to go on stage. His first experience was in stock, then he was a radio singer, and then to Hollywood and films. He made I Met Him in Paris as a debut, then Last Train From Madrid, Having a Wonderful Time, Fast and Furious, The Great Victor Herbert, Wyoming Buck Privates, Model Wife, Design for Scandal, The Walls Came Tumbling Down and, more recently, Home by the River, There's a Girl in My Heart, Cover Girl and The Impatient Years. Now he is television's Ellery Queen, that suave, intellectual detective who always gets his man and whom the ladies love. Who is he?

2—His home is in Vermont and he is a Republican United States senator. Born in Springfield, Vt., he worked as a machinist apprentice and, after his apprenticeship was finished, he was in the machine tool industry in various capacities—journeyman, designer, editor, engineer and executive. He was once president of the Federal Reserve bank of Boston. He was appointed to the Senate in 1946 to fill a vacancy and was elected to a six-year term in 1946. What is his name?

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON, June 20 — An important factor in Governor Adlai E. Stevenson's refusal of President Truman's offer of support in the Democratic presidential race is his belief that his candidacy would suffer, if the voters got the impression that he was a White House heir or "stooge." The Illinois chief executive is not entirely satisfied with the Washington record written by the outgoing president.

He disagrees with Truman's apparent disregard of such problems as huge federal spending, the public debt and high taxes. A reformer in the best sense of the word, as his Illinois achievements demonstrate, he has no sympathy with the Missourian's tolerance of back-room politicians and officeholders. He does not hold the same contempt for private rights and property that Truman showed in his seizure of the steel plants.

Stevenson will accept the nomination only if it falls to him by decision of an unbossed convention. He realizes, of curse, that no convention is completely free of back seat drivers. But if there is one man he does not want to manipulate his political vehicle, it is Harry S. Truman.

Since these reports of Stevenson's attitude have reached 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, Truman appears to have lost his earlier interest in the Illinois man's political fortunes.

* * *

TEST — The real test of the Democratic politicians' attitude toward the 20-year, Roosevelt-Truman record is presented by the candidacies of Vice President Barkley and W. Avereil Harriman, the mutual security administrator. They are the only entries who "amen" everything Franklin D. Roosevelt and his successor have done or proposed, with Senator Kefauver not far behind.

They hallelujahed the impressment of the steel factories, and the proposed wage increases during the period of government control. They believe in the thumping Truman budgets, including vast expenditures to foreign countries. They favor both the Far Eastern and European programs of collective security. They support federal aid to health, education and agriculture which even a Democratic Congress rejected.

They are even willing to jeopardize party strength in the South by their advocacy of the most extreme form of civil rights, including nonsegregation in schools and other public places. Harriman, in particular, demands Congressional action without waiting for a Supreme Court decision on Dixie's system of "separate but equal" educational facilities.

* * *

THREAT — Harriman, of course, hasn't a chance for the prize. He has been advanced by New York politicos simply as a means of holding their delegation until the bandwagon starts to roll. Important Democrats do not take him seriously.

Barkley is looked upon as a distinct threat, despite his age. A small clique of Capitol Hill legislators, regarding all other candidates with distaste, have formed an organization that will try to name him, if several ballots fail to produce a nominee.

Truman is not a member of this group. For some reason, possibly because of the age question, he is anti-Barkley. Knowing the futility of the Harriman venture, he cannot endorse the New Yorker for fear of losing prestige by backing a sure loser.

* * *

ATTRACTION — The audience attraction of the various Democratic presidential hopefuls, as registered by attendances at National Press Club luncheons they addressed in recent weeks, shows Senator Estes Kefauver far in the lead.

A total of 468 turned out to listen to him when he spoke at one of these weekly affairs. Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia was next, with listeners totalling 368. Senator Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma polled only 165, while Harriman attracted 342. Senator Brien McMahon of Connecticut had to cancel his appearance because of illness, but the advance sale of luncheon tickets for him was extremely small. Club officials were happy over the postponement.

The GOP rivals—Taft, Eisenhower, Warren, Stassen, etc. — will appear between now and the Chicago convention, if possible. Requests for informaton on Ike's date indicate that he will be a big drawing card, although Senator Taft always brings them out in these sessions.

* * *

'COMPLEX' — The audience is presumably quite intelligent. It consists of Washington newspapermen, government officials, members of Congress, lawyers and, of course, lobbyists. When Harriman spoke, the ball room and club were crowded with Wall Street lawyers and financiers. One well-known broker explained that they made the trip to "see how the son of the famous railroad builder and financier could get that way."

Another Wall Streeter advanced this explanation for Harriman's attachment to the Roosevelt-Truman regime:

"He has a guilt complex because he has so much money that he didn't earn!"

* * *

CHEERED — General Eisenhower's decision to speak extemporaneously in the pre-convention campaign cheered everybody except his ghost-writers — Paul Hoffman, Kevin McConn and Stanley High. After the Abilene fiasco, a friend of Ike recalled the incident of the Indian and the atom bomb explosion at Alamorgodo.

It seems that the red man was sending smoke signals from a hill near the testing place. When the flash and roar startled him, he said: "Ugh! Wish I'd said that!"

Mrs. G. C. Wolf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Denman, 225 Northridge Road, will represent Denver, Colorado Alumnae at the Phi Mu Centennial National Convention in Macon, Ga. June 23 through 27. Mrs. Wolf will leave Saturday by car. She will be accompanied by Mrs. C. E. Rader, Past National President of Phi Mu, Mrs. E. J. Reilly and Mrs. Robert Batterson, formerly a teacher in Circleville schools, who are representing the Columbus alumnae.

Program for the convention, which will signal Phi Mu's 100th anniversary, has as its theme, "Our American Heritage" and will feature, as keynote speaker, Erle Cocke, immediate Past National Commander of the American Legion, who recently became civilian adviser to the National Department of Defense.

Dorothy Kaucher, San Jose, Calif., Phi Mu, and well known aviation author whose book, "On Your Left, the Milky Way," was just released, will also appear prominently on the convention program.

National President, Mrs. Landon Freear, said that record breaking numbers of Phi Mus are expected to attend the historic convention in Macon, which is the seat of the fraternity's founding in the halls of Wesleyan College.

Mrs. Wolf will act as district luncheon chairman at the convention.

Mock Trial Feature Of County Law Meeting; Kerns Not Guilty

A mock trial, feature of Thursday's meeting of Pickaway County law enforcement officers, turned out to be a three-hour mixture of hilarity and serious discussion on courtroom procedure.

Purpose for the gathering, held in Glitt's restaurant, was to illustrate and debate different phases of trial strategy.

Sprinkled through the make-believe trial process, the inevitable humor of the evening had the following principals and highlights:

County Prosecutor Guy C. Cline, who prepared the mock procedure especially for the meeting, served as moderator and steered proceedings past several loud and confused stages.

* * *

JOHN KERNS, constable of Circleville township, pretended to be the defendant and decided not to testify in his own defense since his chances for acquittal were already running high.

Mayor Raymond Lindsey of Asheville, defense counsel, pointed out glaring holes in the state's case.

County Sheriff Charles Radcliff, assistant defense counsel, finally upset the trial altogether by pointing out the judge, in making his charge to the jury, had used outdated material.

Mayor William Johnson of Williamsport, prosecutor, proved a relentless questioner when Mack Wise, Circleville patrolman posing as one of the defense witnesses, offered an amazing story —only part of which was in the script.

Magistrate Oscar Root, as complaining witness, was able to sit back and watch after claiming—for the sake of the evening's fun—that he had been robbed of a $1,000 diamond ring.

State Highway Patrolman J. W. O'Neil of Columbus headquarters never batted an eyelash on the stand when the defense pointed out he and Magistrate Root varied widely in a vital phase of the state's testimony. (No rehearsal had been held for the program.)

* * *

MAYOR WALTER Heise of South Bloomfield, testifying for the defense, told such a plausible story everyone had to read the script to find loopholes in the witness's version.

Commercial Officer Harry Timmons, foreman of the jury, remarked it wasn't correct for the judge to smoke a cigar "in court."

Marshal Ballard O'Connor of Williamsport made up the other half of the jury.

Magistrate Guy Porter of Darby Township had little to do as bailiff, even when the jury was ready to "retire to its chamber." Instead of retiring, Jury Foreman Timmons shouted to the judge:

"Your honor, he's not guilty!"

Then everybody turned to ice cream and soft drinks.

The program ended with a general discussion of hypothetical cases and trial technicalities.

Dairy Farmer Outlines Good Pasture Plan

Kermit Thomas, a dairy farmer located along State Route 22 west of Circleville, feels he's found an ideal combination for high milk production in bromegrass, alfalfa and ladino clover.

Thomas, who estimates he receives $400 gross every two weeks for milk, recently explained his method to Donald Archer, farm planner for the Pickaway County soil conservation district.

In 1950, Thomas said, he sowed seven pounds of bromegrass per acre, along with seven pounds of Buffalo alfalfa and one - half pound of ladino clover. Nineteen acres were treated.

Twenty-one cows, in full milk, pastured the 19-acre area last year from May 1 through Aug. 15.

In addition to the pasture, Thomas said he made 375 bales of hay last year. This year he has made 300 bales of hay and has pastured 20 cows.

Farm Truck Tags For One Use Only

AKRON, June 20 — (AP)—A farm truck license can't be used for rides to and from a job in the city.

The Ninth District Appellate Court ruled thus in the case of Seth Ingersoll of Elyria, reversing a judgment by the Lorain County Common Pleas Court.

Elyria Mayor Henry Ault had convicted Ingersoll of illegal use of a farm truck license and fined him $25. The common pleas court reversed the mayor's decision.

Cop Is Promoted For Nabbing Chief

YOUNGSTOWN, June 20 — (AP)—Traffic Patrolman Thomas Grady has been promoted to traffic investigator because he gave a ticket to Police Chief Edward J. Allen for jaywalking.

Chief Allen paid the $1 fine and then issued a directive to all police officers warning they are also subject to be ticketed.

Holland Family Works Toward Citizenship

William Oetker of Holland has wanted to be an American citizen since childhood and his ambition is finally to be realized.

Oetker and his wife arrived in Pickaway County three weeks ago from Schiedam, Holland, to make their home on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. John Dunlap Jr., near Williamsport.

Events leading to their arrival started many years ago during World War II, when Oetker was stationed with the Netherland Navy in Miami, Fla.

There he met Mrs. Dunlap's niece, now Mrs. Jack Fowler, who was a member of the WAVES. She heard of his ambition and since that time they have kept in communication with each other.

The couple, in their middle 30's, have been trying to get into the United States for more than two years. However, they had to wait their turn due to quota regulations.

* * *

OETKER, WHO was a member of his country's navy for six years, is working on a Dunlap farm. Aside from his farming duties, he is a fisherman and a gardener.

Mrs. Oetker, extremely interested in house activities, is just learning to speak English.

Mrs. Dunlap says, "We have had a delightful time with sign language and key words."

County's Health Office Avoids Fund Reduction

While the bugaboo of reduced funds has recently returned to heckle health departments of other Ohio counties, Pickaway County's health unit has been able to maintain an even keel on state subsidy and taxpayer support.

Federal grants and aids for some counties have been trimmed, complicating financial structure of the units and threatening a curtailment in services.

However, Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner, said: "In this county we've gone along for at least 15 years without the federal funds. But some other health units have used the federal assistance to add personnel and equipment. Reductions in the federal help are sure to give them serious problems.

* * *

"PICKAWAY COUNTY could also qualify for federal grants and aids by adding a sanitarian to our staff. However, it's the feeling of the board the work to be done by a sanitarian isn't sufficient here to warrant the extra expense."

Dr. Blackburn explained while state subsidy payments to the various health departments vary over a period of time, they are substantial enough—plus taxpayer support—to meet the needs of his organization here.

The county health department received $1,640 in state subsidy last year. While state funds are uniform for each of the counties, Dr. Blackburn pointed out some counties have to "spread them a little thinner" to handle more than the average number of health departments.

Screwballs Make Life Less Dull

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, June 20—(AP)—The place where I work is full of desks but this stranger in the soiled shirt naturally had to walk up to my desk.

"I been up all night," he said belligerently. "You don't expect me to stay up all day, too, do you?"

"No indeed," I murmured.

"Well, I'm going to stay up until I get the rules clarified," he said. "Does a baseball fan have legal rights or doesn't he?"

"Of course, he does."

"They can't throw a fan out of the ball park just for hollering, can they?"

"Oh, no, indeed."

"That's what I told them after they threw me out of the park last night," said the stranger. "I knew I was right all along."

And he walked out of the office, completely happy.

My visitor was obviously slightly screwball, and I fell to thinking: "Why, out of all the ears in sight he could bend with his tale of woe, did he pick on my ears?" The only answer I could find was that in me he instinctively recognized a kindred soul.

Screwballs seem to love me, and I must confess I find them fascinating, too. Looking back on 20 years of newspaper work, I expect I must have spent at least 15 of them listening to screwballs.

Every newspaper office is visited by an almost daily parade of mildly daft crackpots, and the man assigned to the chore of hearing them is sometimes known as "the screwball editor." I always loved this work myself, although it makes some reporters nervous, particularly if the visitor is carrying a small parcel that could turn out to be a homemade bomb.

My trouble with crackpots is that I usually end up on their side. If an addled inventor shows up with plans for a flying submarine, he has no trouble at all convincing me submarines should have wings. I remember the fellow who wanted to launch a crusade to get raspberry-flavored stamps. That seemed so sensible to me that I sat down and helped him draft a letter to the postoffice.

My favorite screwball, however, was a lady we came to know as "Rambling Mary." Every week she wrote a long rambling letter, telling of her fights with the landlord and the neighbors, and the small children down the hall who teased her.

The letters, bearing no return address and signed only "Mary" came year after year, and I got so I felt I knew the lonely old lady real well. When the letters finally ceased, I missed them for a long time. It was like losing a friend, and I never learned whether death had taken Mary or they had just shut her away.

I suppose the most interesting screwball was "Operative X837." He was a distinguished-looking young man laboring under the delusion he was an FBI agent engaged in counter spy work.

Every few nights he would slink up to my desk and whisper, "Operative X837 reporting." I would give him a typewriter and he'd write a detailed account of the spies he was shadowing, then slink out mysteriously.

One evening "Operative X837" showed up with his sister. While he was pounding out his report, she said:

"My brother is harmless. I hope he isn't too annoying."

"Not at all," I told her. "But he only shows up at night. What does he do during the day?"

"He keeps office hours," she said. "He's a psychiatrist."

Pilot Is Cleared Of Death Plunge

LIMA, June 20—(AP)—Bruce Overmyer, 37, was found innocent by an Allen County common pleas jury of two counts of manslaughter in the death of a man who fell from his airplane.

Overmyer was piloting a plane last Feb. 18 when George Gary, 51, fell to his death. The prosecution contended Overmyer was intoxicated.

The defense claimed Gary willfully unfastened his safety belt during flight. Witnesses also testified that Gary, several times in the past while drinking, had expressed suicidal intent.

Production Cut

WARREN, June 20—(AP)—Mullins Mfg. Co. says it will cut its work week from five to three days next Monday at its Liberty plant here and a division of its No. 3 plant at Salem. Steel shortages due to the nationwide strike were blamed.

More Prison Facilities Needed In Ohio, Gov. Lausche Asserts

MARION, June 20 — (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche has declared the need for enlarged prison facilities in Ohio is imperative.

The governor, speaking at ground-breaking ceremonies at the new Marion Training School, reviewed plans for expanding the state's penal system.

"If our present plans are put into full effect, Ohio will have one of the best penal systems in the United States," he declared.

The new Marion Training School will house 750 youths between 16 and 25 years of age. It is the latest step in a move to relieve congestion at Ohio Penitentiary. The next legislature will be asked to appropriate 3½ million dollars to double the size of the Marion school so that eventually it will take care of 1,500 inmates.

Gov. Lausche said the establishment of new and modern structures has not kept pace with the growth of the state.

"As a result of many years of neglect," he declared, "there has been terrible over-crowding at the Ohio Penitentiary. At the present time approximately 4,300 prisoners are actually housed in the penitentiary.

Cost Of Living Barometer Rises

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—The government's latest cost-of-living barometer has moved up under pressure of rising food and rent costs to within a tiny fraction of the record high reached last January.

The living-cost index, measuring prices of food, clothing, shelter and a host of other things climbed during the month ending May 15 two-tenths of one per cent to 189 per cent of the 1935-39 average. That is 4.1 per cent over the mark of 18 months ago when price and wage controls took effect. The peak figure last January was 189.1.

Blast, Then Fire

BELLEFONTAINE, June 20—(AP)—An explosion in a paint room Wednesday started a fire at the G. F. Clingerman Mfg. Co. plant here. The firm said damage may exceed $10,000.

Supply Of Pork To Be Small

Fewer Spring Pigs Given As Reason

WASHINGTON, June 20 — (AP)—Higher prices and smaller supplies of pork for next fall and winter were indicated in an Agriculture Department report.

The department said farmers produced nine per cent fewer pigs during the spring season this year than a year ago. Spring pigs reach slaughter weights in the following fall and winter.

Nevertheless, total meat supplies may be a little larger because of prospective increases in marketings of beef cattle, calves, sheep and lambs.

Pork supplies may continue below the last season's level well into 1953. The report forecast pig production in the coming fall season also would be nine per cent below a year ago. Fall pigs go to market during the following spring and summer.

The downturn in production was said to reflect unfavorable prices of hogs in relation to production costs, particularly the cost of corn and other feeds. A relatively short corn crop last year caused feed prices to advance during a period when hog prices were declining.

The indicated total production of pigs for 1952 was put at 93,107,000 head compared with 102,189,000 last year and 92,554,000 for the 10-year average.

Case Turned Down

COLUMBUS, June 20—(AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court refused to hear the appeal of a Cincinnati taxpayer who contends legislative appropriations to veterans' organizations are unconstitutional.

Assault Charges Faced By Gridder

FORT THOMAS, Ky., June 20—(AP)—Thomas J. Mussio, 22, Xavier University football player, has been held for grand jury action on assault and battery charges filed by Miss Susan Frommel, 18, of Fort Thomas.

Mussio waived examination when he appeared before Judge John E. Smith in police court, and was released under $2,000 bond.

Miss Frommel was Mussio's date to the Xavier University Senior prom on May 30, the night of the alleged assault.

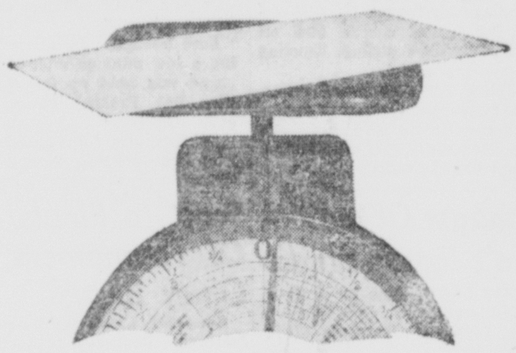

The Chinese were the first to use printing.

Sam And Lew Meet Again In PGA Tourney

LOUISVILLE, June 20—(AP)—The golf world, in a nostalgic mood, relived one of the most dramatic of championship playoffs Friday as Sam Snead, defending champion in the PGA championship, encountered Lew Worsham in a first round "sudden death" match.

There's always drama in a playoff and the excitement of that man-to-man encounter five years ago is fresh in the minds of golf fans because it was featured in an article in a national magazine only last week.

That was the time when Snead, the "big" golfer who never has taken the elusive open title, and Worsham, a big, engaging fellow with a crooked nose, a jutting chin and not much of a reputation as a player, wound up in a tie at 282 after 72 holes at the St. Louis Country Club. Worsham won it on the next hole.

"Sam and I are good friends, but I'm going to try to beat the hell out of him," Worsham said.

• • •

EVEN IF there's no hard feeling between these two, the public won't be convinced. Their meeting is the one standout of the 32 first-round 18-hole matches and the 16 second-round tussles that follow immediately.

It takes the edge off all the others: off yesterday's par-burning activities over the sun-baked 6,620-yard Big Spring course and off Dutch Harrison's stellar shooting that won the medal.

Harrison, scrambling and suffering at times, shot rounds of 67-69—136 to capture the $250 medalist's prize after Snead and a half-dozen red hot bidders failed.

Manager Of Indians Can't Figure Slump

CLEVELAND, June 20 — (AP)—A disconsolate figure sat, head in hands, before his locker in Cleveland Stadium.

"I just don't know what's wrong," sighed Indians Manager Al Lopez. "It looks like we're on the way again, and then the roof falls in."

The Indians had just dropped their sixth straight game, a 6-3 ninth inning decision to the Washington Senators Thursday, and a four-game series with second place Boston lay ahead.

"I'm not sure what lineup will be ready for Boston," Lopez said. He explained that Ray Boone's ankle still is bothering him, Luke Easter needs more rest and Dale Mitchell is "not in good shape."

Capital Battles Shift To Diamond

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—The Democrats and the Republicans go to bat with each other Friday night—at baseball, for a change.

Two teams made up of House members will renew a 40-year-old rivalry in Griffith Stadium. The game is sponsored by the Washington Evening Star for the benefit of underprivileged children. Naturally, there are political overtones.

"We're going to be the home team," said Rep. C. W. Runt Bishop of Illinois, captain of the Republicans. "That's preparation for next November."

Said the Democrats' captain, Rep. A. S. Herlong of Florida: "We'll take care of the Republicans in traditional fashion."

Connie H. Wins Hilliards Feature

COLUMBUS, June 20—(AP)—Connie H. piloted by H. Miller, took the combined $1,000 purse by winning both heats of the featured Nightingale Cottage Trophy race Thursday night at Hilliards Raceway.

Connie H. took honors in the first heat by going the mile route in 2:10 3-5. The filly came back in the second heat to do the one and one-sixteenth distance in 2:19 2-5.

Perfect Game Barely Missed As Erskine Hurls No-Hitter

By The Associated Press

The boys who know baseball best have been saying for some time that when Carl Erskine learned to control the ball consistently he would be a great pitcher.

The 25-year-old Brooklyn right hander from Anderson, Ind., apparently has learned that lesson. If he hasn't there were a lot people, including the Chicago Cubs, badly fooled Thursday as he faced only 28 men while holding the Bruins hitless for a 5-0 Dodger victory.

And the only thing that kept him from pitching the first perfect game since Charley Robertson of the Chicago White Sox retired 27 Detroit Tigers in 1922—was a walk to opposing pitcher Willie Ramsdell in the third inning.

"The only man who couldn't have hit the ball out of the park if I'd teed it up for him," said the slim Dodger hurler.

Ramsdell, who relieved Warren Hacker in the second after the league leaders had scored four runs, has made only one hit in 16 times at bat this season.

• • •

"IT WAS going to rain any minute," Carl explained. "I was trying to hurry it up. I threw four fast balls in a hurry and just couldn't get them over."

Sure enough, rain started falling a few minutes later and the game was held up for 45 minutes. But Erskine came back ever stronger.

Erskine's feat highlighted a day of top flight pitching performances.

Philadelphia's pint-sized Bobby Shantz racked up his 11th successive victory and his 12th of the season as the Athletics divided a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox, winning 4-1 and losing 5-4.

Allie Reynolds, the big New York Yankee righthander who shuns help from relief pitchers, hurled his third shutout of the year and his 15th consecutive complete game in blanking the Detroit Tigers, 8-0.

Ivan Delock, whose regular chore with the Boston Red Sox is relief pitching, held the St. Louis Browns to five scattered hits to record his third victory, 2-0.

Little Murry Dickson of the Pittsburgh Pirates also twirled five-hit ball as the cellar-dwelling Bucs defeated the New York Giants 8-1 in an argument-studded game played under protest after the third inning.

• • •

HANK EDWARDS blasted relief pitcher Sheldon Jones for a three-run homer in the ninth to give the Cincinnati Reds a 7-4 arclight victory over the Boston Braves. In another night contest the St. Louis Cardinals bunched five tallies in the sixth for a 6-4 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Washington shoved Cleveland deeper into fourth place with a 6-3 victory.

Erskine struck out just one batter but only five balls were hit to the outfield. Third Baseman Bobby Morgan came up with two great stops and throws. Shortstop Peewee Reese and second baseman Jackie Robinson also sparkled. And Erskine himself figured in six of the putouts.

"My control did it," said Erskine who had a 16-12 record with the Dodgers in 1951—his first full season in the majors.

"I threw a lot of curves and some fast balls. I had them hitting the pitch I wanted them to. My control was so good, I didn't have to resort to my change of pace, which is my best pitch."

In fact he threw his change-up only once in the 103 serves required for his masterpiece.

"It was to Fondy (Cubs' first baseman)," recalled Roy Campanella, who was on the receiving end of a no-hitter for the first time in his 16 years of baseball. "He had a good slider and a good curve and a live fast ball that hopped."

The no-hitter, the second in the majors this season, marked the first time the Cubs had been held hitless since Fred Toney of Cincinnati did it in 1917. The other 1952 no-hitter was turned in by Detroit's Virgil Trucks against Washington May 15.

Scott In Finals Of Tournament; Olney Bested

Bill Scott, Circleville high school freshman, Thursday advanced into the finals of his flight during the district junior golf tournament in Columbus.

At the same time, Don Olney of Circleville was eliminated from the championship flight of the contest.

Scott defeated Bill Swift Thursday in the semifinals of the tourney, handing his foe a 3 and 2 setback.

The victory bounced Scott into the finals, which matched him against Bob Carruthers with tee-off time at 9:50 a. m. Friday for the title.

• • •

OLNEY WAS nosed out of the championship competition on a narrow 1-up margin by Bill Klunk, St. Charles grad.

Klunk and Allan Vlerebome of Lancaster were to have teed off Friday morning in the windup match of the championship flight. Vlerebome, medalist in the qualifying round, scored a 1-up victory Thursday over Bob Barton.

Thunderclap Wins Village Farm Pace

WESTBURY, N. Y., June 20—(AP)—Thunderclap gained revenge over Meadow Rice for his two previous defeats at Roosevelt Raceway Thursday night when he won the $9,555 Village Farm Pace by a length over the favored two-horse Del Miller stable entry of Adio Abe and Meadow Rice.

Adio Abe finished second and Meadow Rice third.

Hugh Bell drove the winner for the Saunders Mills Stable of Toledo to a season's record of 2:02.2 in this Little Brown Jug preliminary test for three-year-old pacers.

Thunderclap's time clipped two-fifths of a second from Meadow Rice's previous best season time of 2:03.4 made last week. Thunderclap paid $8.70, 3.20 and 3.10.

Women's Tourney At Semi-Finals

CHICAGO, June 20—(AP)—A three-time champion opposed feminine golf's top money-winner and a tit-list from a decade ago faced a 19-year-old amateur in Friday's semi-finals of the 23rd Women's Western Open.

Medalist Betsy Rawls of Austin, Tex., who has collected almost $10,000 on the 1952 pro circuit, had a stern upper-bracket foe in Louise Suggs, the mighty Atlanta mite, who won the Western in 1946, 1947 and 1949.

In the opposite bracket, hot-shooting Betty Jameson, who won the meet in 1942, tangled over 18 holes with the only surviving simon-pure, petite Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif.

Bosox Go All Out For Youth, Report

BOSTON, June 20 — (AP)—Reports from widely scattered sections that the Boston Red Sox have given a total of $476,000 to six untried youngsters in recent weeks Thursday night drew a "no comment" retort from General Manager Joe Cronin.

"The Red Sox never discuss such matters," Cronin added.

It had been announced in Pomona, Calif., that Red Sox Scouts Ted McGrew and Tom Downey had signed Marty Keough, an 18-year-old schoolboy sensation, for a $100,000 bonus.

Re-Sign With Rams

LOS ANGELES, June 20 — (AP)—Star end Tom Fears, co-hero in the Los Angeles Rams' 24-17 victory over Cleveland for the 1951 National Football League championship, and halfback Paul (Tank) Younger have signed new contracts with the Rams.

TOLEDO, June 20 — (AP)—Purdue University was in first place Thursday as the National Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association entered the finals of its three-day meet on Maumee Bay.

Sokolsky's

"What was the great point in attacking it and capturing it (Berlin), particularly as our political bosses had already told us that the line we must occupy was 200 miles to the west. After we had captured the line of the Elbe and captured Leipzig, we had to retreat 150 miles from there to get back where our bosses had already told us we must go.

"And, finally—Marshal Zhukov—a slightly different type of Russian—told me that he used twenty-two divisions, 2,500 guns and suffered about 10,000 casualties taking this destroyed city of Berlin. Now, none of these brave men of 1952 have yet offered to go out and pick out the 10,000 American mothers whose sons should have made the sacrifice to capture a worthless objective."

This is the Eisenhower story with its essential contradiction. Between 1945 and 1952, a series of events have occurred involving us in a "cold war" in Europe, a fighting war in Asia, and a remobilization of forces in this country, including a conscript army of 3.5 million. We have also been forced to spend about $40 billion on European aid, including the subsidy of NATO.

Therefore, "the question does arise as to whether Eisenhower's judgment has been justified by the course of events and history.

Musial Favorite In All-Star Poll

CHICAGO, June 20 — (AP)—Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals continues to gain in fan popularity and now has a strong hold as the best vote getter in the All - Star baseball poll.

Latest tabulations in the nation-wide balloting give the slugging outfielder 243,159 votes while Dom DiMaggio of the Boston Red Sox trails in second place with 239,073.

The Chicago Cubs Hank Sauer is third with 237,816 and Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers fourth with 231,494.

Yesterday's Answer

U.S. Finances Better Than Was Expected

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—The government is going to wind up its year two to three billion dollars better off than it expected. But it still will be deep in the red.

Government experts, speaking privately, said the deficit — the amount by which the government overspends its income—is likely to be less than 6¼ billion when the fiscal year ends June 30. It could be as low as 5 1-3 billion.

President Truman, in his budget message last January, figured the government would go in the hole by $8,200,000,000.

The President estimated total spending would jump 59 per cent above last year due to a huge expansion in rearming the U. S. and friendly foreign countries, but the military expansion hasn't taken place on that scale.

Officials now say spending will fall at least 3½ billion, and possibly more than four billion, below Truman's $70,900,000,000 spending estimate.

State Department Creates New Stir

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—The State Department, it seems, will send a man to California and another to Michigan to see what makes America tick.

That set off the alarm last night in the Senate.

"There are a great many people in the State Department I would like to send away somewhere," snorted Sen. Connally (D-Tex), "but not out to the states."

Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, Republican leader, said the project ought to be investigated.

Others asked what about the 46 other states? And would the "ambassadors" enjoy diplomatic immunity

Victim Of Traffic

FINDLAY, June 20—(AP)—Sue Ann Wilson, 3, was killed in front of her home when she dashed into the street and was hit by an auto.
